

Alternative Schools Reform

Alternative Schools Parent Council

Do you have a child who attends an alternative school program?

Has your child been told that he/she could not return to the public school?

Has your child been told that he/she would have to go to another educational program instead?

Is your child receiving schooling at a residential facility, treatment center, detention center or group home?

Do you feel your child's new educational placement does not meet his/her educational needs?

Share Your Experiences and Guide Real Reform for Our Kids

If you answered 'yes' to one or more of the questions above, the Center for Children's Advocacy would like you to participate on our Alternative Schools Parent Council to share your experiences and guide real reform for our kids.

The Alternative Schools Parent Council will give a voice to the parents of children who are placed in settings outside the public school system and provide a forum where the experiences of their children can be heard.

The Center's Alternative Schools Reform Project intends to reform alternative school programs across the state.

We Need Your Help.

Input gathered through this process will be used to inform state policy to improve alternative educational settings for Connecticut's youth.

If you are interested in helping out or have any questions, please contact:

Attorney Leon Smith
Director, Alternative Schools Reform Project
(203) 223-8975 or email LSmith@kidscounsel.org

The Center for Children's Advocacy is a non-profit organization that fights for the legal rights of Connecticut's most vulnerable youth.